Advice for a new conference goer:

- Find a way to share the info you get at a conference with your cohorts. (and revisit it yourself)
- Talk with your coworkers ahead of time about how your will share about what you learned at the conference: Such as schedule a 5-minute Highlights chat. Be aware other coworkers may not understand that it is not a vacation. Frame it to benefit everybody. Think about only sharing most high-value nuggets.
- Take good notes: Write down the entire title, speaker, description. Note that access to slides from the conference closes after a year. Maybe download the slides if you might use them later. Take advantage of every resource.

General Sharing:

- Note that people taking CPI Crisis Prevention Institute training may not understand how it has changed. It no longer has a physical component and is focused on verbal de-escalation.
- Darci will post if/when Libs-OR Training for state employees about Sanctuary State Immigration Law Basics for State Employees becomes available.
- The Oregon Reference Forum presentations are available here:
